A survey report about films

When do my classmates like watching films?

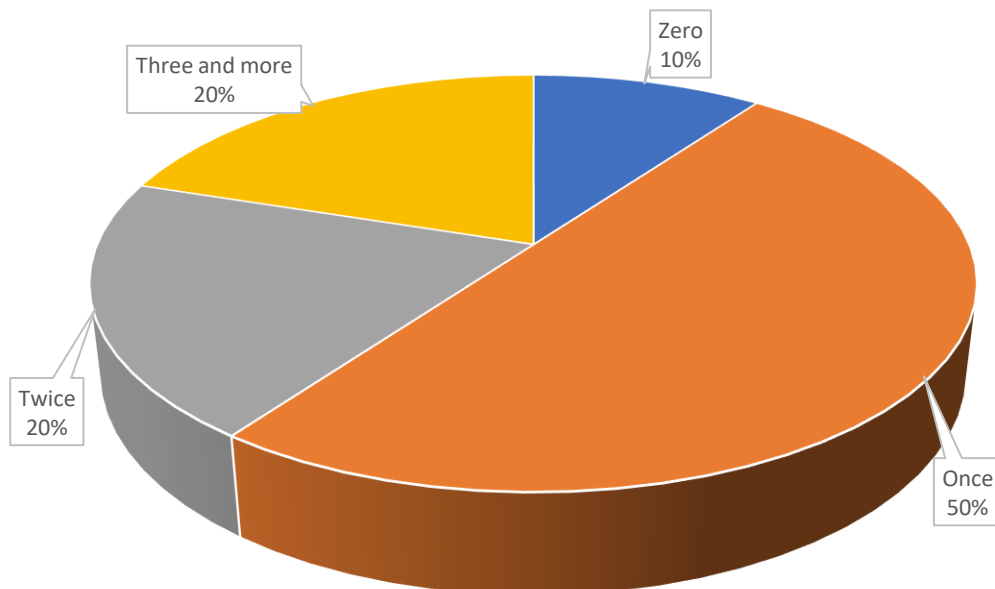

Do my classmates like watching films based on a true story?

What types of films do my classmates watch the most?

How many times have my classmates watched films this week?

I asked ten people in my class questions about films. These are the results of my survey.

Most of my classmates like watching films based on a true story. Only one person said that he doesn't like watching films based on a true story. The majority of my classmates watch films in the evening, ten per cent during the day time and zero per cent in the morning. I was curious so I asked what types of films my classmates prefer watching. Half of my classmates prefer watching horror and fantasy films, they had twenty-five per cent each. Twenty – one per cent like watching comedy films, seventeen per cent watch romance and only twelve per cent prefer watching action films. I was a bit surprised because no one likes watching science fiction films. At the end of my survey I asked how many times my classmates have watched films this week. Fifty per cent of them have watched once, twenty per cent have watched twice and a few more people have watched three or more times. One person hasn't watched any films this week.
