Favourite Activity

When did you discover your favourite activity?

I asked ten friends questions about their favourite activity. Here are the results of the survey.

The favourite activity of half of my friends is gaming. Twenty per cent like sports the most and another twenty per cent prefer music. Other ten per cent enjoy art the most.

A few friends spend two to three hours every week doing their favourite activity. Thirty per cent spend four to eight hours every week and forty per cent spend more than eight hours every week.

The majority of my friends discovered their favourite activity more than five years ago. Thirty per cent discovered their activity two to five years ago and a few friends discovered their favourite activity last year. No one discovered their favourite activity this year.

My friends enjoy activities which I enjoy too and they spend a lot of their time in a week doing their favourite activity.
