I carried out a survey about music. I asked fourteen people five questions. Here are the results of my survey.

The majority of my classmates answered that they listen to music while doing their homework. Only four people don't listen to music while doing their homework. Most of my classmates can't play a musical instrument, but only a few people can. Thirty-five per cent of my classmates rather listen to rap music, twenty-eight per cent rather listen to classical music, twenty-one per cent rather listen to pop music, seven per cent rather listen to jazz music and also seven per cent rather listen to hip pop music. The majority of my classmates don't like singing karaoke. Only a few people like singing karaoke. Almost one hundred per cent of my classmates have been to a concert, except one person.
